If you would like to become a sponsor please contact the office at cantybrooks@namimaine.org or by calling (207) 622 5767.

Walk teams are already forming all around the state.

Hello NAMI Maine Supporters:

More research is needed to develop safer, more effective interventions for children with early onset bipolar disorder for both childhood mania. In addition, the children were less likely to discontinue the drug compared to those taking lithium or divalproex sodium. Those taking risperidone were also more likely to experience other metabolic side effects, such as an increase in cholesterol and triglycerides. The researchers concluded that risperidone was significantly more effective than lithium or divalproex sodium for initial treatment of mania in youth age 10 and older.

Drug Administration for the treatment of mania in youth age 10 and older.

The public is invited to attend any of the sports competitions throughout the week of the Games, and admission is free. Veterans interested in competing can sign up at the Games’ website at www.wheelchairgames.va.gov. The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

“We're thrilled to see the National Veterans Wheelchair Games return to Richmond after 31 years,” said Bill Hammond, President and CEO of the Opportunity Alliance. “This event is unique as it brings together people back into life after serious injury, and the Wheelchair Games are often a life-changing event for athletes.”

The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

The Games will include competitions in 17 different events such as swimming, track, field hockey, and basketball. The Games will take place on Friday, June 29, at Sports Backers Stadium.

The public is invited to attend any of the sports competitions throughout the week of the Games, and admission is free. Veterans interested in competing can sign up at the Games’ website at www.wheelchairgames.va.gov. The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

“We're thrilled to see the National Veterans Wheelchair Games return to Richmond after 31 years,” said Bill Hammond, President and CEO of the Opportunity Alliance. “This event is unique as it brings together people back into life after serious injury, and the Wheelchair Games are often a life-changing event for athletes.”

The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

The Games will include competitions in 17 different events such as swimming, track, field hockey, and basketball. The Games will take place on Friday, June 29, at Sports Backers Stadium.

The public is invited to attend any of the sports competitions throughout the week of the Games, and admission is free. Veterans interested in competing can sign up at the Games’ website at www.wheelchairgames.va.gov. The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

“We're thrilled to see the National Veterans Wheelchair Games return to Richmond after 31 years,” said Bill Hammond, President and CEO of the Opportunity Alliance. “This event is unique as it brings together people back into life after serious injury, and the Wheelchair Games are often a life-changing event for athletes.”

The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

The Games will include competitions in 17 different events such as swimming, track, field hockey, and basketball. The Games will take place on Friday, June 29, at Sports Backers Stadium.

The public is invited to attend any of the sports competitions throughout the week of the Games, and admission is free. Veterans interested in competing can sign up at the Games’ website at www.wheelchairgames.va.gov. The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

“We're thrilled to see the National Veterans Wheelchair Games return to Richmond after 31 years,” said Bill Hammond, President and CEO of the Opportunity Alliance. “This event is unique as it brings together people back into life after serious injury, and the Wheelchair Games are often a life-changing event for athletes.”

The Games are made possible through the generous support of national host sponsors, Altria Group, Invacare Corporation, and the Opportunity Alliance.

The Games will include competitions in 17 different events such as swimming, track, field hockey, and basketball. The Games will take place on Friday, June 29, at Sports Backers Stadium.